Downtown Development Authority (MiamiDDA) Gives Us a Shout Out

April 14, 2009 by Bike Miami Days

The Miami Herald published an op-ed today by Miami DDA Director Alyce Robertson in which she writes: "the public sector has introduced new programs that are fueling activity on the weekends and after dark, such as Bike Miami Days and the free DWNTWN Concert Series, which is driving thousands to Bayfront Park."

Thank you, DDA! The Bike Miami Days Team appreciates your continued support. We couldn't have "Miami's Biggest Free Street Party" without the DDA's financial support, dedicated staff and continued collaborative effort.
